

Hi, it's me.

I wanted to thank you.

But just the words "thank you" didn't seem enough,
You know, enough to express more than just thank you,
'cause I feel more than just thank you.
So I thought, hmm... maybe if i said it
more than just once... you know, a bunch of times...

But I know you've heard those same words millions of times before... so then i thought perhaps i could compose them into a special little song...

So i did.

It was HORRIBLE!

So then i tried to write it all flowery and colorful on perfumy, frilly paper.
It also was HORRIBLE!

Finally in desperation, I climbed to the top of the highest building I could find to scream
out "thank you" hoping you would hear.
But all the stupid birds got flustered and began frantically flapping and screaming about...
(I couldn't even hear myself scream!)

Another failure.

Hmm... maybe it would be best if I just told you thank you and hope you'd know what I mean.

Thank you.

Dave,

you made the process
of buying a home so easy. I didn't lose one bit of sleep or give escrow a second thought.
You have so much confidence in your work and
you pass it along to others.
Thanks again for the picnic
basket too!

Sincerely,
Berta Acosta
